Motivational Interviewing for Maternal Health Providers

July 11, 2022

9 am – 4 pm

Join Dr. Karen Studer of Loma Linda University for an interactive in-person training designed to support providers to become ambassadors for proactive screening through motivational interviewing key principles and techniques in universal screening.

Through role-playing exercises and engaging activities, participants will understand the spirit of motivational interviewing and learn about the stages of change using the transtheoretical model. Additionally, participants will learn techniques to incorporate into appropriate service delivery for the families they serve.

Certificates of participation are available for this training to be provided to your licensing board. Receipt of continuing education credits is fully dependent on the discretion and processes of your licensing board and is not guaranteed.
